

THE DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE leaving the House of Lords after recent opening of New Parliament.

Miss Eleanor Sloan and Miss Betty Wayne.

Miss Elizabeth Siter

Miss Mary Falck and Miss Margaret Hatfield

Miss Mary Carter

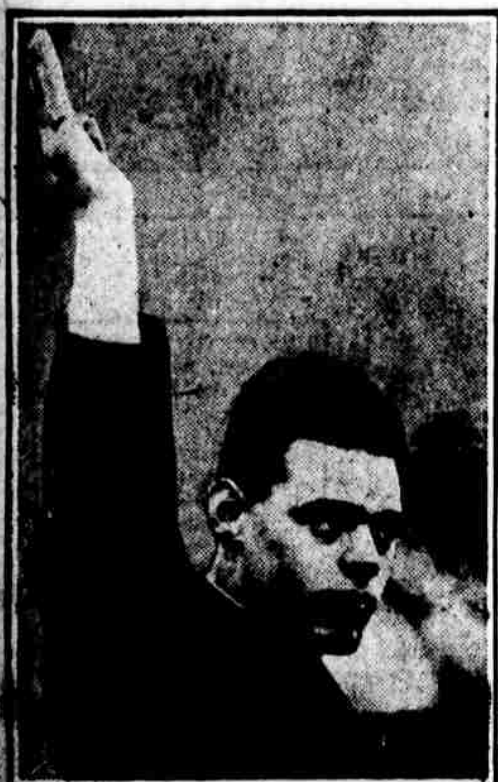

Miss Amelia Seixas and Miss Mary Fahnestock.

SMALLEST AND TALLEST, Harry Price, mascot, and Corporal O. D. Foster at Army-Marine football game.

SOME OF THE YOUNGER SOCIAL SET WHO ARE BUSY REHEARSING FOR THE COMING CHARITY BALL.

IN CHARGE OF MILITANT UNEMPLOYED in London. Mr. Wal Hanington, photographed at recent meeting.

SEÑORITA RAQUEL MELLER, Spanish singer and danseuse, one of current idols of the French public, her charm and beauty having taken Paris by storm.

INCREASING CROWDS OF SHOPPERS herald rapid approach of Christmas. A view of the noon crowd on Market Street, looking west from Eleventh, shows that many are convinced 'tis wise to do one's shopping early.

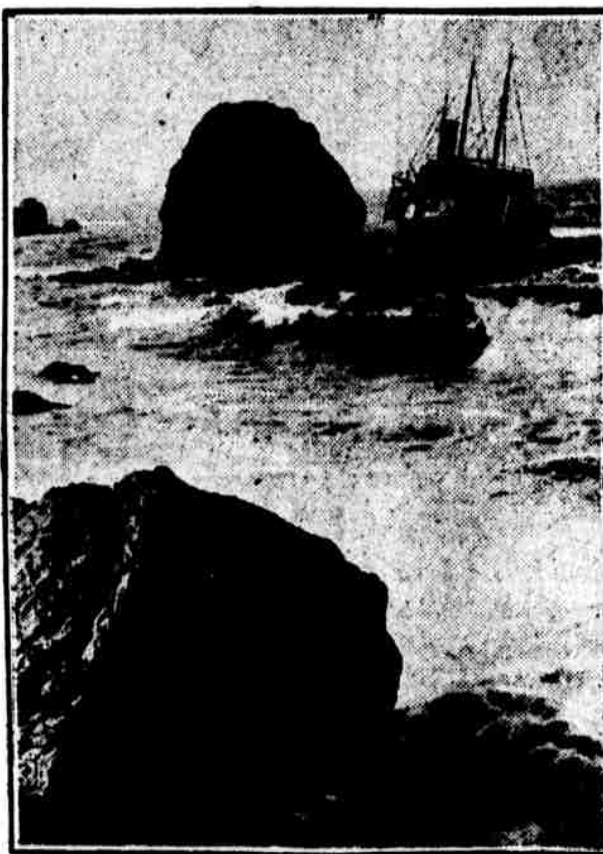

THREE WERE RESCUED when this car tore through railing on East River Drive and went into river. John Cassidy who rescued them is shown in the inset.

IN CHARGE OF CHRISTMAS FILES. Miss Helen Gowbotham at the Philadelphia Social Service exchange.

ENJOYING THE PAINTINGS by Jane H. Valentini, on exhibition at St. Paul's Parish House at Chestnut Hill.

GRADUALLY POUNDING TO PIECES, just off the rugged shores near Cliff House, San Francisco. The tanker, Lyman Stewart, which ran ashore in fog recently, is pictured above.

Mrs. Wm. E. Lingebach, vice president of New Century Club. Mrs. R. Pitts, legislator for the twenty-first district. Frank C. Frederick, Easton's newly appointed Chief of Police. Col. Smith W. Brookhart, Iowa's new Senator-elect. Anna Dahl Bates, first woman assessor, State of Pennsylvania.

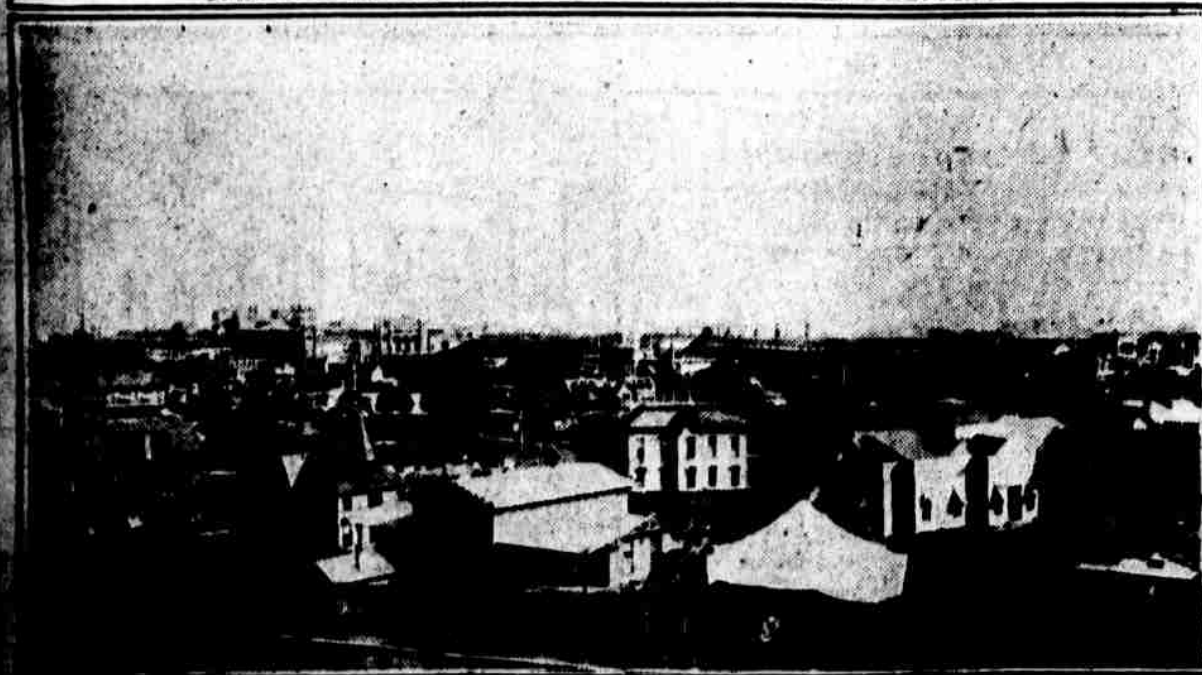

MAKING UP. Anthony Boch is busy transforming Kenneth Atkinson into the "king," the role he takes in Penn Charter's play, "If I Were King."

PENN CHARTER DRAMATICS. Harrison Terry as "Katherine," and F. S. Cooke as "Francis Villon" in "If I Were King."

CAN YOU RECALL THIS BIT OF OLD PHILADELPHIA?

VIEW OF THE CENTENNIAL EXHIBITION GROUNDS as they appeared in 1876, giving a glimpse of the vastness of the spot to which visitors flocked from all parts of the world. This photograph was made from near the entrance. Contributed by the Newell Studios, 222 South Sixth street. Please send us your old Philadelphia photographs.

THE MARCHIONESS OF QUEENSBERRY has gone into the movies.

PHILADELPHIA WELL REPRESENTED at Chicago Live Stock Show. Helen Klint, of Chestnut Hill, exhibiting "Royal Winner," three-year-old ram.

AMERICAN DELEGATES AT THE LAUSANNE CONFERENCE. Above are pictured the four U. S. Representatives attending the Near East Conference at Lausanne. They are, from left to right, Mr. Belin, Secretary General; Ambassador Child, American Representative at Rome; Mr. Irro, U. S. Minister at Bern and Mr. Amory, Secretary of the American Delegation.